Questions

Is your company familiar with recent changes to state law regarding speculative accumulation of recovered material in Session Law 2015-1 (see § 130A-309.05\(c\) on page 3)?

*

☒ Yes ☐ No

Is your company familiar with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) Rule? Refer to the link: EPA CRT Rule

☒ Yes ☐ No

Describe the activities conducted by the Registrant related to the recovery of recycling of electronic devices (e.g. our company collects electronics from county recycling programs and dismantles the materials at our facility):

Our company received electronic equipment from telecommunication customers. The material is resold or recycled.

CRTs are the glass video display components of a computer monitor or television. Are CRTs accumulated or stored at any other locations in or out of the state? List these with addresses:

We currently do not have any CRT at our facility. Wesbell does not accept CRT's

In order to ensure compliance with the federal speculative accumulation rule, please provide the number of pounds of CRTs stored at each specific location on January 1 of last year. Also provide the total number of pounds of CRTs shipped from the same location during last year.

0

OPTIONAL: How many pounds or tons of electronic material does your company handle each year? Do not include CRTs in this estimate.
